CIRCULAR

OF THE

Women's Educational and Industrial Union.

The object of this Association is mutual co-operation and sympathy among women. The rooms at 157 Tremont Street are open through the day and evening to all women, where may be found a Reading Room, with daily papers, magazines and books of interest. A member of the Committee is always present to receive strangers. It has a committee for visiting the sick, an Agency of Direction which gives information in regard to localities, lectures, schools, places of entertainment, boarding places for women, etc.

The Educational Department provides Lectures and Classes. A Lecture Bureau is prepared to supply Lectures and engage Lecturers at prices varying from five to fifty dollars.

The Industrial Department keeps for sale articles made by women, and takes orders for plain, fancy, and decorative work. Orders are also received for home-made bread, cakes, jellies, pickles, canned fruits, etc. Thus is opened an avenue for some important kinds of women's work which have as yet had no market value.

Its Employment Committee receive applications for work and workers, house service excepted, from 11 A.M. to 12 o'clock daily.

The Hygiene Committee provides Lectures on Hygiene and Physical Culture. Practical talks on health are given every day at 11 A.M. Fridays excepted.

The Protective Committee investigates complaints of dues unjustly withheld from working-women: if the complaints are found to be just, and the money is still refused, it provides lawyers' services free of charge, though law is looked upon as our last resort. The complainants are usually very poor people, in actual need of the wages earned. Complaints are received on Wednesday afternoon, between the hours of 3 and 5, at the Union Rooms.

The social advantages of the Union are perhaps as important as any. Our rooms offer a place to which all women may come and get acquainted with each other, and thereby, perhaps, help each other, and enjoy a social intercourse which ignores class boundaries, whether of wealth, culture, or position. Our especial social gatherings are on Wednesday evenings. To these, all women are free to come and bring their gentlemen friends.

The Moral and Spiritual Development Committee has charge of the Sunday afternoon meetings. These are unsectarian meetings, at which are read Essays and Sermons on subjects connected with the higher human interests, the meetings being followed by remarks from the audience. The meetings are opened and closed by prayer and singing.
